GLORIOUS FOOD

Food is one of Singapore's greatest passions. Where to find the best eats is a common topic among Singaporeans. They are even known to discuss what to have for dinner as they are enjoying lunch!

Singapore's strategic position as a shipping port has long enticed people from around the world to set up home there, creating a melting pot of cultures. Many have brought with them a taste of their motherland but infused local flavours, producing a vibrant culinary scene - from lip-smacking dishes by time-tested hawker heroes to scrumptious creations by award-winning homegrown chefs.

Singapore's openness for different cuisines and culinary trends is evident by the number of food establishments across the island. The famed hawker centres (open-air food courts offering Chinese, Malay, Indian and Peranakan cuisines, among others) provide a delicious crash course in Singapore's multiculturalism. Humble hawkers dedicate their lives to their craft, dishing up tasty fare in the way their fathers or grandfathers taught them. In fact, some of them - like Mr Chan Hon Meng of MICHELIN Bib Gourmand Liao Fan Hawker Chan - went on to gain international appreciation for his craft.
